

Study Abroad at SNHU

Flexible coursework for 1-2 semesters at Southern New Hampshire University

Pack your bags and meet us in New England where you will experience the rich history and culture of the oldest region in the United States. Southern New Hampshire University's 300-acre wooded campus is located in the heart of beautiful Manchester, New Hampshire, less than an hour away from Boston, beaches, mountains, and lakes, and just a bus ride away from New York City.

Support for International Students

SNHU welcomes students from around the world – we have 4,400 students on campus and over 900 are international students from over 70 countries. With widespread experience in servicing international students, we will guide you every step of the way, from the application process, to early registration for courses. Small class sizes, often 20 students or less, offer individualized attention from our experienced faculty, and our welcoming campus will quickly make you feel at home.

Experiential Learning

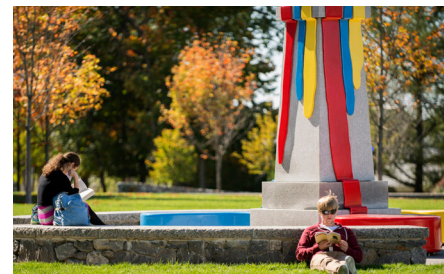

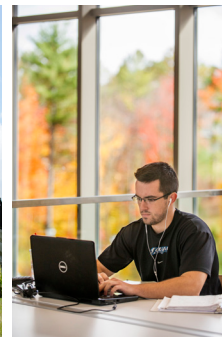

At SNHU, you do not just learn. You experience learning through lively class discussions, team-based projects, civic and community events, workshops, seminars, class presentations and teacher observations. You will have many opportunities to leave the classroom and learn by doing. At SNHU, you gain hands-on experience that will give you and your résumé a competitive advantage.

A Flexible U.S. Experience

At the undergraduate level we have fall (September–December) and spring (January–May) semesters, where you would normally take 5 courses (15 credits/30 ECTS) in one semester. At the graduate level we have a flexible 5-term system that allows you to take 2–4 courses each 10-week term. Students normally take 4 courses (12 credits/30 ECTS) over 2 terms. If you come from a partner institution and have a GPA of at least 3.0 out of 4.0, you may be offered a discount. All other students may apply for our international scholarship.

“Compared with Germany where we have more theoretical study; here we get the chance to actually practice our knowledge and skills. I believe the different teaching style is better.”

- Kathrin Aufderheide,
Germany, Hospitality Administration
