“I chose New Zealand because I thought it would be the most unique experience, and one that I may not be offered again. I am more than content with my decision to study at the University of Auckland, as this has been some of the best time I’ve ever spent.”

“The University is so diverse, especially compared to my hometown. I have met such genuine people, attended events that I never would have imagined, visited so many unique places and made memories that will last a lifetime. In the future I hope to pursue a career in the fashion industry. Studying abroad will help to broaden my global mindset and strengthen weaknesses I didn’t even know I had.”

Leah Marsh

Study Abroad student from the University of Delaware, USA.
